PHL Airport to Host Job Fair at Temple's Liacouras Center on May 16

PHILADELPHIA – Philadelphia International Airport (PHL) will hold a job fair to fill immediate openings in businesses located at the Airport. The job fair will take place Tuesday, May 16, from 10 AM to 3 PM at the Temple University Liacouras Center, 1776 N. Broad Street.

More than 40 businesses including airlines, restaurants, car rental companies, retailers, and government agencies are expected to participate in the job fair. Employers are seeking to fill 300 immediate openings, including police officers at the Philadelphia Police Department and fire fighters for the Philadelphia Fire Department. The private business employers have openings for customer service representatives, sales associates, bartenders, servers, bookkeepers, baristas, managers, cashiers, and more.

The job fair is free and pre-registration is not required. There will be several on-site resources for job seekers, including a computer lab and one-on-one resume reviews.

“The Airport supports more than 96,300 jobs in the region. Nearly 20,000 of those positions are right here at the Airport,” said Airport CEO Chellie Cameron. “We are committed to ensuring that area residents and businesses have access to opportunities at the Airport and to building a workforce that benefits from the Airport’s growth.”

As part of comprehensive outreach efforts throughout the year, PHL also sponsors an online job portal, phljobportal.org, job readiness skills development workshops, capacity-building workshops for small firms, business opportunity events, and employer networking events.

For the job fair, job seekers are encouraged to wear business attire and to bring at least 25 copies of their resume. For more information, visit phl.org for a list of open positions and participating employers.

Philadelphia International Airport is owned and operated by the City of Philadelphia. The Airport is a self-sustaining entity that operates without the use of local tax dollars. It is one of the largest economic engines in Pennsylvania, generating an estimated $15.4 billion in spending to the regional economy and supporting 96,300 full-time jobs for the 11-county Philadelphia MSA.
