PHL Wi-Fi Ranks Among Fastest in U.S. Airports

PHILADELPHIA – Customers using the free Wi-Fi at Philadelphia International Airport (PHL) have access to one of the fastest Wi-Fi connections among U.S. airports, according to a study released today.

PHL ranks second among the country's top 20 busiest airports in providing this essential service to its passengers, according to Speedtest by Ookla, a Seattle-based company that analyzed public Wi-Fi speeds during the last three months of 2016. Speedtest found that PHL's Wi-Fi download speed was second only to Denver International Airport. The service is provided by AT&T.

"We know how important reliable, fast Wi-Fi is to our customers and we have worked to deliver a robust service," said Airport CEO Chellie Cameron. "We are pleased that our Wi-Fi scored high in this study and we will continue to ensure that we provide the service our customers expect."

PHL has offered free Wi-Fi throughout the terminals since 2008. Customers can log onto the network by choosing attwifi from their Wi-Fi connection choices.

Philadelphia International Airport is owned and operated by the City of Philadelphia. The Airport is a self-sustaining entity that operates without the use of local tax dollars. It is one of the largest economic engines in Pennsylvania, generating an estimated $14.4 billion in spending to the regional economy and accounting for more than 141,000 jobs.
